Andrea Mayfield

President, Shelton State Community College

Livingston native Andrea Mayfield became president of Shelton State Community College in July 2014 after 18 years at East Mississippi Community College, where she held leadership roles in e-learning, international student services, human resources, institutional research/effectiveness, academics and technical/vocational instruction. During that time she served as an instructor of biological sciences, e-learning coordinator, e-learning dean, dean of instruction, vice president for instruction, vice president for institutional research and effectiveness and, most recently, vice president of the Scooba campus.

Mayfield has a doctorate in educational leadership with a special emphasis in the administration of higher education from Mississippi State University and bachelor of science and master of arts in teaching degrees in biological sciences from Livingston University/the University of West Alabama.

She and her husband, George, are parents to Michael, Kelly and Alex; they are the proud grandparents of three boys.
